ACADEMICS

Fr. Krason pauses for a smile before rushing off to one of his many duties.

Mr. Woods has a serious look on his face as he addresses his students.

Administration: On Top

The most important staff at Bishop Dwenger is the administrative staff, the staff which kept the school running smoothly throughout the year. Once again Fr. Krason headed this staff as principal. Mr. Woods and Sr. Denis acted as assistant principals, while Mr. Krouse held the positions of business manager and athletic director for Dwenger. Mr. Bart and Sr. Denis, as deans, provided the necessary discipline for students.

Sr. Denis is caught hard at work, performing one of her many jobs as assistant principal.

A rare sight — the busiest corridor in Bishop Dwenger is actually empty.

To be coach, teacher, and dean of men all at once takes a big man. Mr. Bart is Dwenger's big man.

Besides being Athletic Director and Business Manager, Mr. Krouse also teaches in the Business Department.

People Helping People

The Guidance Department played a major role in many aspects of student life at Dwenger. Apart from the individual counseling, the Guidance staff administered numerous student aptitude tests. Another important service of Guidance was helping students plan their futures. During the 1974-75 school year, Father Pfister and Father Suehr were joined in their duties by Miss Cathy Arata, who assumed Mr. Walz's former position as counselor. Mr. Walz became the Director of Admissions. Mrs. Pfister contributed much to the Guidance Department as secretary.

In the office, the ladies gave an all out effort. They proved their efficiency by keeping the Administrative Department running smoothly all year.

Mr. Walz is always able to make new students feel welcomed with his friendly smile.

Is Father Pfister coming or going? It's hard to tell because of his busy schedule as Guidance Director.

Father Suehr always comes through with the impossible for the underclassmen.

Miss Arata is always willing to listen with a cheerful smile and to help whenever and wherever she can.

Mrs. Pfister is the backbone of the Guidance Department because of her secretarial skills.

Mrs. Kendregan is indispensable to the smooth operation of the principal's office.

Sr. Bernice is always willing, no matter how busy, to take time to help a student.

Mrs. Altmeyer works steadily throughout the day, helping to organize the many details of the business office.

No question about it, Mrs. Ocken enjoys her work and her attitude towards everyone attests to it.

Mrs. Holly provides the teachers with bits of news and announcements for the day.

Mrs. Below is concentrating on her work. The paper work at Dwenger never ends.

Bishop Dwenger acquired ten new faculty members this year. Mrs. Anne Case became head of the Art Department, while Sister Theresa Marie Dulle and Mrs. Isabel Smulkstys were well received additions to the Science Program. The Math Department acquired the expertise of Mrs. Harriet Hinkle and Mr. Lloyd Bookmyer. Mr. Paul Johnston instructed the Juniors about Church History, while Sister Roberta Malewski taught Religion to the Sophomores. Mr. John Minch and Miss Pamela McCartney lead the Physical Education Department. Mrs. Lavelly joined the English Department replacing Ms. Diane Matthews who resigned at the end of the semester.

Sister Josele's recovery is made possible by quiet students and a comfortable wheelchair.

Mr. Scudder looks completely exhausted after a trying day's work.

Mrs. Rorick gives a happy little jump as she seems to be exclaiming, "Thank goodness it's Friday!"

Mr. and Mrs. Gentile get together for a friendly chat with Father Krason.

Religion: The Core of Dwenger

Mrs. Gentile's Religion Class gets involved in collages for the community celebration, mass.

Father Terry Place gets the class' attention. Let's hope they pay attention to him.

Teaching ranks high among the many talents of our gifted principal, Father Krason.

Many new techniques are used to arouse a religious interest in the students.

Mr. Johnson instructs not only Dwenger students, but their parents too.

A guest speaker captivates this attentive Religion class.

In a community atmosphere such as Dwenger's, Religion has become a way of life for students and teachers alike. Bishop Dwenger's, Religion Department had excellent opportunities for students to learn about their faith and thus become better Christians. The Religion Classes also made numerous posters and collages for the community masses. Religion was the core of Dwenger's life this year as it has always been and will remain in the years to come.

Father Krason, caught in his typical stance is one of the many dedicated Religion teachers at Dwenger.

Fathers Suehr, Krason, Deacon Shaffer, and Father Mario celebrate the Eucharist.

Mr. Symczak explains to a group of parents how he teaches Religion to their children.

Mr. Johnston's class seems to be fairly unhappy with his teaching methods.

Religion students help Sister Roberta to liven up the halls of Bishop Dwenger.

Whatever the topic of Mrs. Rorick's impromptu speech assignment was, Bob Tippmann and Dave Schory surely convey it well.

I wonder why Dave Junk enjoys Business Communication's class so much.

Gene Voirol, Bob Swindler, Terri Bonahoom, and Chris Nagy give different reactions to Mrs. Raison's lecture.

These two students will read faster and comprehend better in no time at all, with the help of the Developmental Reading aids.

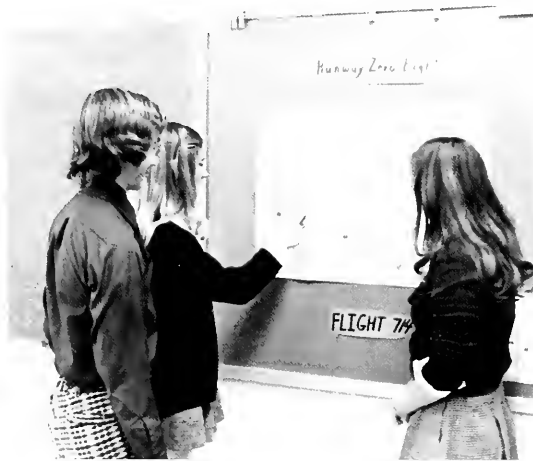

So many people cannot concentrate with a photographer in the room.

English Challenges Both Students and Teachers

The task of teaching poetry, prose and grammar to students has always been an arduous one. An English teacher stands before a classroom full of faces and tries to kindle in them some love for the classics. Headed by Mrs. Johnston, this year's twelve member English department has, as always, done an excellent job. After a basic introduction to grammar and literature in the freshmen and sophomore years, Juniors are exposed to a survey of American Literature accompanying their American History course. Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors are offered News Media Studies and Creative Writing along with the required classes. Finally, in the Senior year, the field expands even more to offer World Literature, English Literature, College Prep Writing or any combination of the above. The development of a Dwenger students' English background is complete and he is well prepared for college.

Miss Jackson gives Denise Brown personal attention, while Jim Ringswald expresses his attitude toward College Prep Writing.

Nancy Topp shows two of her friends exactly where the novel "Runaway Zero-Eight" is taking place.

These four sophomores find that writing English compositions requires a knack for spelling.

You never know what Sophomores will do "behind closed doors".

What's this? Could it actually be a Sophomore hard at work in Geometry class?

A New Angle on Math

The Math department of Bishop Dwenger offered the students a wide range of courses especially suited to their individual needs. While the Freshman struggled through Algebra I, the Sophomores tackled Geometry. Juniors and Seniors had a wide variety of classes to choose from. Trigonometry and Algebra II were popular courses taken by Juniors. The Seniors were challenged by classes such as Modern Analytic Geometry, Calculus, and Analysis of Elementary Functions.

In Geometry, Sophomores learn to work with figures, but Nancy, I don't think that's exactly what they had in mind.

Could this be how a Geometry student looks through the eyes of a protractor?

Look familiar? As we all know, this is Mr. Crall's typical pose while teaching Geometry.

Jeff Moeller points out the fundamental facts of Geometry.

Dr. Ruiz has a knack for getting freshmen started out on the right foot in Algebra.

In Mr. Thompson's Geometry class, the similarity of triangles leaves these students cold.

Steve Henderson finds that reading comic books is a great way to supplement his Algebra.

Social Studies — A Learning Experience

The Social Studies Department, headed by Mr. Francis Ray, enlightened the minds of our students this past year. The entire department should be commended for giving a firm background in history, government, geography and economics to the students. They supplied them with a storehouse of knowledge. The job of facing a classroom full of eager students has never been easy, but the Social Studies staff did it.

It seems that Mr. Koester's pen cooperates as much as his class does during the course of the day.

Is Mr. Herber really two years old or is he afraid he won't be able to blow out that many candles?

Mr. Ray obviously doesn't have any trouble keeping his class' attention at any time.

These smiling faces prove that Mr. Bart has made his point.

Is Mr. Herber really letting a girl take his place in the class? What is this class coming to?

"Has anyone got a tissue?" Mr. Tone wants to know as he takes time out from helping his history students.

Jerry Houck, Tim Murphy and Bob Warnock find it isn't easy to locate particular places on the map.

... apparent that Mr. Ummel gets his point across even though he is only a student teacher.

Everybody's Experimenting!

It's true! A majority of Dwenger students entered the field of science. The reason was that the Science Department offered a great variety of courses.

Anatomy and Physiology pupils investigated life but had to kill frogs to do it. Physical Science students, studied energy and discovered they had none. Biology and Advanced Biology classes were quick to learn that dissecting before lunch provided a great incentive for sticking to a diet. In Earth Science, some students explored the world of their own backyard — earthquakes, glaciers, and rock formations?! Chemistry, Physics and Descriptive Physics students besides studying the usual compounds, mixtures, and theories, did their best to concoct a way to explode the second floor, but their heroic efforts failed when the Bunsen burners refused to light.

A word to the wise for those not enrolled in a science class — get in one because that's where it all happens!

Mrs. Smulkstys, in her first year of teaching at Dwenger, assists her students in performing an experiment. What kind of a reaction are they expecting?

Is this how Tom Paige prepares for Physics?

John Gibson and Randy Garrett ask the all important question: "Is it or isn't it?"

When Steve Ludwiski talks, EVERYBODY listens!

Anne Harding, Sue Glasper, Ann Erb, Sheli Strimmenos and Debbie Roy investigate the parts of the eye in Anatomy and Physiology class.

Mr. Walker's students just flip at the thought of an experiment!

Anatomy and Physiology artwork expresses the feelings of a majority of the Dwenger population.

Bob Golee is amazed at how well he has repaired the Biology microscope. "Now if I could just find that amoeba!"

Choruses of Buenos Dias, Bonjour, Guten Tag, and Ave were heard echoing through the halls reminding all of the language courses offered at Bishop Dwenger. The first two years were mostly concerned with grammar and we all remember "trudging through the mire" of Preterite, Imperfect and Conditional tenses. Third and fourth year courses offered an opportunity to read novels in the language and were geared toward developing mastery of speaking and composition. The language lab offered opportunities for students to listen to proper pronunciation and to hear their language spoken as it would be in Germany, France or Spain.

We asked Mrs. Sims' second year French students how they liked their new desk arrangement, and they said, "What new desk arrangement?"

Students Learn to Speak Different Tongues

Mrs. "T" is in the process of one of her infamous countdowns, 5,4,3,2,1, "class dismissed".

What would Sr. Denis do if she found out about these three? Maybe she did find out because we haven't seen them around lately.

A pair of batteries, a pair of headphones, a pair of ears and sheer determination ... That's all it takes.

Mon professeur, Ma mère, Mon amie, Mon gardienne, Mon chef,
Mon comédienne ... MON DIEU!

Who is the best candidate to kiss a "frog"??? Pick a "Spic"!!!

As Ed Lyvers is replacing the part, Brent Helton is wondering are we supposed to use glue or rubber bands.

Mrs. Brown points out the intricacies of Latin grammar to her students

A picture is worth a thousand words— or four legs and seven fists.

Several students in Shorthand II take advantage of the listening unit while Sister Josele dictates to the rest of the class.

Besides learning the techniques of secretarial work, the Office Practice classes also help by doing odd jobs for the school.

Joan Weldon demonstrates how important concentration is to a good typist.

On Back-to-School night Sister Josele discusses her teaching techniques with the parents of business students.

Mr. Krouse instructs his Accounting class on the ins and outs of the business world.

Mr. Ryan's Consumer Education class seems to be ready and awaiting another interesting lecture.

Taking Care of Business — Everyday

Career-minded students once again found the functions of the Business Department a great help in developing their skills for the future. These students had a wide selection of business courses from which to choose.

Personal Typing and Typing I were offered for the newcomers, while an Office Practice class was made available to those advanced students who wished to further develop their skills. For those girls anticipating secretarial careers, Shorthand I & II were made available, while Accounting classes were offered for those interested in keeping and balancing the books.

Typing I gives students a chance to develop their skills and increase their speed while working at their own pace.

Gifted Hands . . .

Artists and architects created quite a few masterpieces this year through Dwenger's Art and Mechanical Drawing Departments.

The Art students worked in sculpture, ceramics, drawing, painting, weaving and printmaking. Under the instruction of Mrs. Case, the students also learned of the "elements of good design." The senior Art majors were able to individually display all of their previous art works in the showcase, showing them for a week at a time.

Mechanical Drawing I and II, under the direction of Mr. Hicks, dealt with structural design, engineering and architecture. The students studied the basic concepts of industrial drawing, coding and design.

Tim Borden makes a good pie, but as for cutting it, that's a different story.

Dan McKinney, Steve Schenkel, and Grant Fowlkes pool their knowledge to create a great work of art.

Home Economics: Creativity in Action

This year, as always, cooking and sewing were popular classes for both girls and boys. However, classes were not all fun and games. Mrs. Frushour diligently taught all there was to know about Home Economics. First year students learned the basics of meal planning, time saving and simple food preparation. They also learned the basic stitches and how to use sewing machines.

The more advanced students learned difficult meal planning and preparation, also how to use different fabrics and how to sew from more difficult patterns.

Chef and Tailoring provided the boys with the basics in sewing and cooking. Now they realize that it's not quite as easy as it looks.

So at the end of the year everyone was able to prepare a banquet and sew an evening gown or at least to boil eggs and to make a tie.

Tim Carteaux assists Don Strack in the difficult task of cutting a pattern.

No, Pat it won't work — it takes a little more than that to get the machine started.

A screwdriver often comes in handy in sewing class, especially when the machine breaks.

Maryanne Kider knows that pressing open the seams is an important part of sewing.

It takes a great deal of concentration to sew a straight seam as Jim Goheen shows.

Exercise Is the Word!

"Are you sure Bobby Orr started this way?"

This candid shot of Miss McCartney proves that teachers have bad days too.

Wow! What a lucky shot. "I never thought I'd make it."

This picture illustrates the results of a careful aim.

This year's P.E. classes saw a completely new pair of teachers, Miss McCartney and Mr. Minch. Miss McCartney had a very simple but effective philosophy which enriched all her students. She tried to give everyone a chance to learn the basics in every sport. This helped each girl to form an opinion on the sport and follow it up in G.A.A.

Mr. Minch took over the boys' gym classes with many of the same ideas as Miss McCartney. The boys took part in many of the same sports as the girls. In short, this year's gym classes were run efficiently and most goals were achieved.

This couple doesn't seem to appreciate the fine art of dancing.

Tuffy smiles down upon the scene as a cry for "HELP" is heard over and over again.

Too bad Mr. Minch couldn't hear what was being said ... "Get your hands off me ... NOW!"

"Swing your partner and promenade left!" Are you sure this is a gym class?

Hey! What's so interesting up there? — a bird, a plane, — no it's just a ball.

Media Center: Storehouse of Knowledge

Radiating, flashing, reaching out. exploding!! The AUDIO-VISUAL staff and their activities keep the Bishop Dwenger faculty and the student body in touch and in motion.

Barbara Walker has begun a new trend in studying: an open mouth instead of an open mind. But Teresa Clemmer sticks to the old tradition.

As librarian, audio-visual, and head of the media center, Sister Jeanne has helped many students increase their vast wealth of knowledge. Helping Sister Jeanne in this important role was Mrs. McComb who served as the assistant librarian and official cataloguer. The total success of the library also depended upon the student library assistants and audio-visual assistants.

Besides books and reference sources available at Bishop Dwenger's ultramodern, peach painted library, periodicals and audio-visual materials abound. When the library is open, it serves as a center of communications and study for all students to enjoy.

Jim Wyss expertly keeps the recording and replaying equipment in perfect order.

Always smiling, Sister Jeanne, head of the media center, is always ready to put aside her many responsibilities to help all needy students with any problem they might have.

Mrs. McComb you look so perplexed! Could it be because you just typed that report without any paper in your typewriter?

Mr. Ray has found the only relaxing atmosphere in the school: behind the newspaper in the media center.

Ellen Steger adds a little sparkle to the media center with her personality and her creative art work.

The cafeteria staff takes a deep breath before being bombarded by students. Pictured are Barbara Barrand, Marcella Swinney, Crescentia Boniface, Sandra Garrison, and Helen Bassett.

Are they crazy? They're doing dishes — and smiling!

As you can see, Jim Brown really appreciates the Mothers Club bake sales.

Judy Schnurr loves her pudding so much that she can't wait until she sits down.

Peanut butter and jelly may not be your idea of a delicacy, but for lunchtime it's good enough.

Have you ever wondered what Mrs. Barrand does in the kitchen? Well . . .

To prepare meals for hundreds of people is not an easy task, but admit it, folks, the Bishop Dwenger cafeteria did a super job. Sometimes it must have been rather frightening to be on the receiving end of a stampede of hungry students, but our cafeteria crew handled the masses with aplomb. They came up with balanced nourishing meals and service with a smile!

Once again the maintenance staff kept Bishop Dwenger clean and in tip-top shape. Their hard work and patience brought results. This year the staff was headed by Mr. Ron Fischer. He was ably assisted by Louis Esquivel, Victor Orr and some students.

The maintenance staff not only takes care of the school building, but also the grounds and the school buses.

Cafeteria and Maintenance: Ready and Able

Louis Esquivel is able to clean the halls with one great sweep.

Mr. Ron Fischer scrupulously attends to the school's upkeep, leaving no dirt unswept or door unlocked.

♫ I Believe in Music ♪

In June of 1974 band members assembled for "Summer" Band. With seniors gone and freshman coming in, the band worked hard as a unit to make up for the loss, to teach the new members and to make improvements from the previous year. These were the goals set by Mr. Woods and the band members themselves. The band practiced two nights a week and ended their program with a concert. In August after only a month off the job the band met again and began marching practice. The last week of the month there was band camp for all the musicians. Spending five days at Wawasee, the band worked eight hours a day marching and playing. It was time once again to sharpen their skills to do their usual great job of representing Dwenger. The week ended with squad competition and a concert. The musician-majorettes and drum majors also attended specialized camps during the summer months.

When school began the band met mornings at 7:00 to prepare new routines, formations, and songs for football half time shows. These performances included routines by the majorettes with their batons, hats, canes, pom-poms and guns, the drum major's precise instructions, and band members working together to make various formations such as a ten gallon hat, a mountain range, a star and a cactus. Pre-game activities during the basketball season included the saluting of the flag by the majorettes and The National Anthem followed by the school song. During the game members of the band contributed their talents by beating their drums and blowing their horns to accompany the cheers of the crowd. Live entertainment was provided at halftime. On Veterans Day, the band marched through the streets of downtown Fort Wayne representing the spirit of Bishop Dwenger. The crowds applauded at the spectacular marching performance. In December the band loaded themselves and their instruments on buses and played Christmas carols on the steps of the Cathedral, then returned to Dwenger, all in a matter of forty minutes. Five concerts comprised Bishop Dwenger's twelfth annual concert season: Autumn Nocturne, Christmas Fantasy (with Special visits from Santa Claus and his elves, Rudolf, and Frosty) Symphonic sounds, Spring Aura and The Festival of Catholic Music Education. These concerts required extra work and practice but the members put forth willingly the time and effort necessary to make possible the beautiful music. Out of the regular band a special group was formed called the Stage Band, consisting of woodwinds, brass, base guitar, drums, and piano. This group provided entertainment for the German Night and International Night dances. In April the band toured to Cincinnati where, they put on a concert in one of the diocesan schools. January was a busy month. The musicians drilled themselves for the N.I.S.-B.O.V.A contest in which they competed in solos, duets, and ensembles. They received a total of over one hundred gold and silver medals. Many gold medals, winners also competed in the State Contest at Butler University in Indianapolis.

Under the hard working direction of Mr. Joseph M. Woods the band achieved a goal never before known in the history of Bishop Dwenger.

This year the Bishop Dwenger chorus had more members than ever before. Under the direction of Mrs. Levy, the three noon hour classes and the concert chorus were able to produce beautiful music. The chorus contributed that "little extra" to the monthly Masses, making them more appreciated by the students. Performing at numerous concerts wasn't the only accomplishment of chorus members. They also won awards at the N.I.S.B.O.V.A. competition. All chorus members succeeded in attaining a better appreciation and understanding of music.

Chorus members add new life to the school masses by providing a variety of songs.

The Spirit of the Saints

The Varsity cheerleaders present a gift of appreciation to their moderator, Mrs. Dominiak.

The Varsity cheerleaders, Top to Bottom: June Baker, Beth LaMaster, Vicki Boxberger, Debbie Fagan, Patty Hakenrider, Ann Adams, Anne Harding, Shelly Momper, Sue Martin.

The Varsity cheerleaders were always able to fire up the spirit of the student body and the players during the pep sessions and at games. They backed the teams when we were on top and when we weren't. Long hours and hard work went into the organization of each pep session. The girls made signs, practiced cheers, and helped with skits. The results were lively pep sessions that showed the spirit of our school.

The Junior Varsity cheerleaders supported the varsity and junior varsity teams. They spent many hours outside of school time practicing and helping the varsity cheerleaders with pep sessions.

The smallest squad was by no means the least spirited. These four freshman girls gave total support to their freshman football and basketball teams. Along with the other cheerleaders, they worked on pep sessions and put in a lot of practice time.

Junior Varsity cheerleaders, Top to Bottom: Chris Koch, Judy Feichter, Rose Poinette, Jamie Momper, Melanie Reszel, Mary Gladieux, Karen Palumbo.

The Freshmen cheerleaders, Standing: Theresa Didier, Lisa Neddeff, Kneeling: Debbie Dehner, Tricia Dillon.

The Bishop Dwenger pom-pom squad, with captain Mary Lynn Levy and their moderator Ms. Linda Sims, provided halftime entertainment at football and basketball games throughout the year. They worked continuously putting together routines and practicing for games and competition. The girls had no easy job, as it took much imagination, practice, and teamwork to perfect a routine for a performance. These three factors, along with their pep and enthusiasm, won them first place in city-wide competition in 1974.

The Tuffies were one of the newer additions to Dwenger sports. They were the girls who during wrestling and track season accompanied our teams and helped out. Some of their jobs were to prepare the mats for wrestling matches, to sell tickets, and to set up the track for meets. Their biggest job was to support the teams, which they did very well.

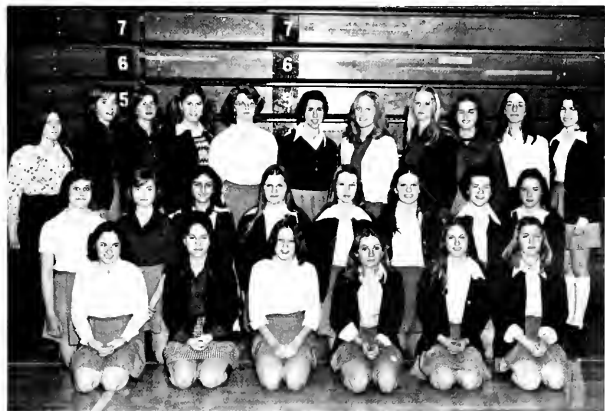

The Pom-Pom girls always liven up the pep sessions by performing various routines.

Staying together is an important part of being a Pom-Pom girl.

The tuffies show their spirit by assisting at a wrestling match.

Let the Real You Shine Through

Prior to distribution of the rings, Father Krason blesses them.

Father Krason, aided by Mrs. Sims, presents to Liz Bonahoon her cherished class ring.

"I accept this as a sign of my devotion and loyalty to Bishop Dwenger High School . . ."

Mrs. Levy and Junior members of the chorus enhance the beauty of the liturgy.

Mr. Szymczak, extraordinary minister, offers the handshake of peace to proud parents.

Following the ring ceremony, Libby Chaney, class president, leads her class in reciting the pledge:

JUNIORS ... ACTIVE

After three long years of waiting and anticipating, members of the class of '76 finally reached the high point of Junior Year-Junior Ring Day. The day began with the celebration of the Eucharist and the blessing and distribution of the class rings by Father Krason. A committee of Juniors, under the leadership of the class officers, prepared the liturgy for the day, centralized on the theme, "Let the Real You Shine Through." A chorus of Juniors, under Mrs. Levy, sang special hymns and responses related to the theme.

Following the ceremony, the Juniors hurried to the Heritage House for a delicious brunch. Next on the agenda of activities was the class picnic at Shoaff Park. The highlight of the picnic was the weight lifting feat by twenty Junior boys: the removal of Steve Indrelunas' sports car from the road to the riverbank, thirty yards away.

Junior Day activities closed with the dance that evening featuring the music of Grunfus. Now the class of '76 is anxiously looking forward to Senior Year.

Should I take the potato salad or apple sauce? ... Julie Pequino solves this problem — by taking both.

JUNIORS ... PASSIVE

At the Heritage House, these Junior boys appear "totally involved" in their noontime brunch.

Senior Superlatives

Jean Reinhart and Tim Krabach put their knowledge to good use by exploring the subject of ecology.

It's easy to see why Terry Partee and Theresa Rody are considered so friendly.

We presume that Michael Harber is a courteous student, but what about Mary Parks?

Ed Sandman and Kim Gladioux prove that it takes a lot of talent to make it to the top.

Joe Houser and Marilyn Rosswurm are two of the most outstanding athletes at Dwenger.

On the road to success Terry Usina and Kevin Ryan find it easier when you take one step at a time.

Kevin Smith and Mary Beth McDonald are always up to something a little out of the ordinary.

Anne Harding assumes the title of best dressed at Dwenger.

On May 16 beautiful memories were created for the many students who attended the Senior Prom. The Prom was held at The Fine Arts Center in downtown Fort Wayne from 9:00 to 12:00 with the music provided by The Dick Brown Orchestra.

The highlight of the evening was the announcing of the court and the crowning of Cindy Kraft as queen.

One thing that made the Prom really special this year was the use of Freimann Park. The park provided a lovely setting and a beautiful place to spend a spring evening.

The After-Prom party was held at the Shiloh Barn from 1:00 to 4:00. Despite the tardiness of the band, everyone appeared to have had a good time.

For most people the Prom is a once in a life-time thing, and for many this year's Prom will never be forgotten.

Yesterday

Mr. and Mrs. Levy stop for a chat with their daughter Mary Lynn and her date Mark Weikart.

Sister Josele, Mrs. Brown, and Sister Denis enjoy themselves while at the Prom.

The fountains at Freimann Park provide a perfect setting for the Prom.

Class Vice-President, Lance Brauchla crowns Cindy Kraft Prom Queen.

These two couples relax as they discuss the events of the evening.

Upon their arrival at the Prom, "The Gang" stops to pose for a picture.

The Senior Class officers present gifts of appreciation to the class sponsors, Mrs. Brown and Mr. Thompson.

Alec Barile and his date are caught in the watchful eye of the camera.

Who says this kind of dancing is old fashion? There was sure enough of it during Prom night.

Jeanne Roach and Don Lobacz enjoy one of the slower dances.

Class President Theresa Rody welcomes the guest speaker, Father Melvin Herber.

This year's Baccalaureate Mass was concelebrated at Precious Blood Church on May 29. This was no ordinary mass for the graduates, for they realized that this was their last mass as a class. Mrs. Levy and the Concert Chorus provided beautiful music to coincide with the occasion.

The Baccalaureate Dinner was held immediately afterwards. At this banquet outstanding students were given recognition and awards were presented.

Dwenger Recognizes Outstanding Students

This picture clearly shows all the accomplishments of the members of the class of '75.

Monica Richardson receives the Eucharist at the Baccalaureate Mass.

Sean Kearney is given recognition by Father Krason for his hard work on the yearbook.

Along with a wish of good luck Student Council President-elect Tom McGuire bids farewell to the Class of '75.

Mary Lynn Lvy seems pleased as she receives her award from Father Krason.

The Class of '75 gathers together at Precious Blood Church for their last Mass as a class.

The Z Club girls assist at the Baccalaureate Dinner by helping distribute the food to the students and their parents.

Father Melvin Herber provides enlightening words for the departing Seniors.

Ed Sandman receives his Scholarship along with a hearty congratulations from the Navy.

Mrs. Levy and the Concert Chorus provide inspirational music which adds to the significance of the occasion.

Led by Father Pfister, the graduates file into the seats reserved for them.

Father Krason addresses the Class of 1975.

Mary Beth McDonald is so happy. She can't believe she's graduating.

Don't these students look more intelligent already?

Michael Harber listens attentively as Kevin Ryan and Dave Brewer give Tim Krabach some pointers on his speech.

Father Pfister gives Tim and Mike their final instructions prior to the ceremony.

After receiving his diploma, Dave Lochbihler is congratulated by Father Krason.

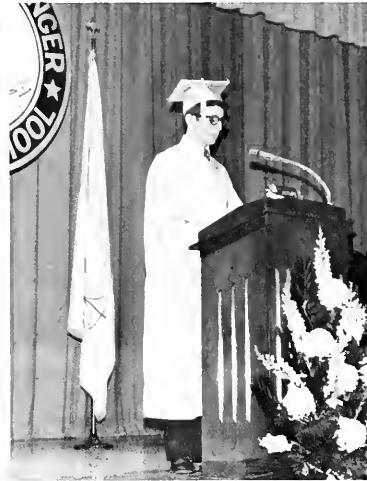

The End . . .

Valedictorian Michael Harber and Salutatorian Tim Krabach give their farewell words to the Class of '75

Father Patrick Farrell gives students some words of advice before they go on their own into the world.

but Only the Beginning

Graduation has a special meaning to each individual who experiences it. To some it is the end but to others it is the beginning of a new life, a chance to make use of the Catholic education that Dwenger has bestowed on them.

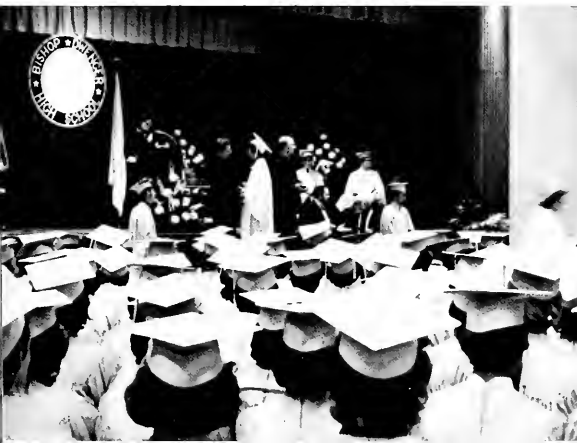

In a way graduation is sad. Tears are sometimes shed at the thought of losing the friends it's taken so long to really get to know. The thought of college and being on your own faces most students, and being an adult becomes a reality. Graduation is only the beginning of the rest of your life.

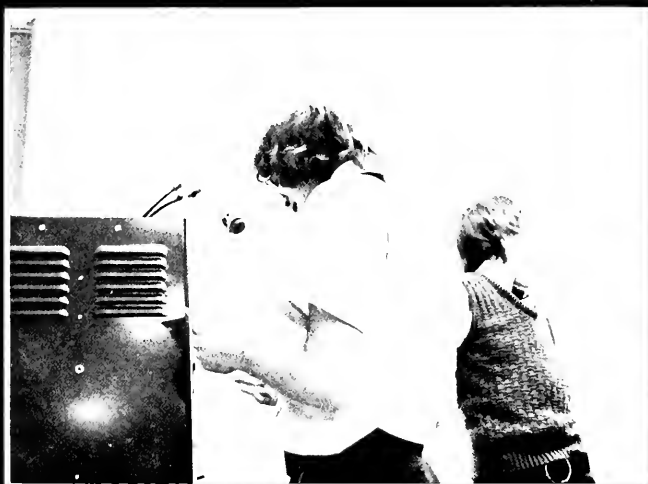

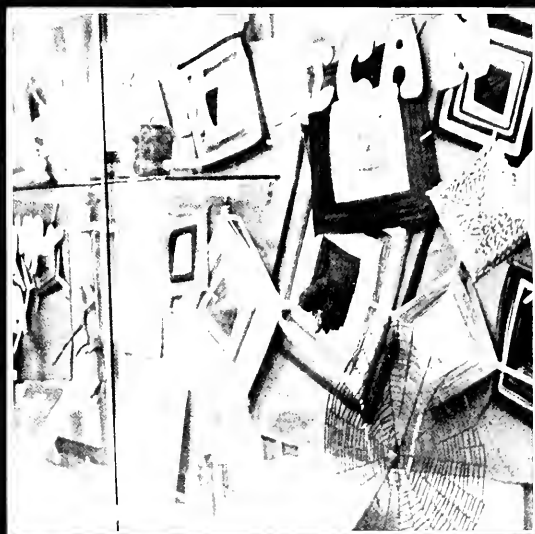

The cafeteria is a busy place before the graduation ceremony. Everyone is nervous and excited when the big moment arrives.

Mary Plant receives her diploma as the other graduates look on awaiting their turn.

STUDENT LIFE

Is Mr. Walz sneaking into or out of a Student council meeting?

The Student Council officers: Amy O'Dowd, Terry Partee, Kevin Ryan, Doug Balser, Dave O'Dowd, Roy Walz — Moderator. Teresa Wunderlin is not shown here.

Student Council — People Taking Action

President Terry Partee holds the attention of his audience with one of his famous gripping speeches.

Many schools today are doing away with their Student Councils because they feel they are inadequate. In this respect Bishop Dwenger is individual. Our Student Council has proven that student government is possible and workable.

Led by Terry Partee, the council has sponsored many worthwhile projects; Grandparent's day, a party for Montessori children, the student raffle, and Christmas projects for needy families are just a few.

The Council has proven this year, as in the past, that students are capable and mature enough to have a part in their government.

Four smiling faces in the spirit of Christmas, President Terry Partee has found three new friends.

The success of the Montessori Party is shown by these children's expressions.

If Bishop Dwenger had been around 20 years ago, could this possibly be the dress code?

The Student Council again sponsored 50's day, where everyone dresses down and remembers the good 'ole days.

A.M. Mayhem in FM or AM rates number one on the P.A. Here Kevin and Al display their natural talents.

Key Club Officers John Wunderlin, John Hayden, Kevin Kinzler, and Michael Reifenberg preside over another of their meetings.

The Key Club was involved in various activities this year. They helped as ushers for different meetings and cleaned up after the many pep sessions and assemblies. The members donated valuable time and effort to help those in need. The Key and Z Clubs are the most dedicated groups in our school, unselfishly giving of themselves to make their projects a success. Their cooperation and service was greatly needed and appreciated during the year.

The Key Club often finds their meetings ending with a game of basketball in the gym.

These Key Club members take time out from their many duties to pose with Mr. Ryan, their moderator, for a picture.

Key Club members are shown relaxing as another one of their typical meetings begins.

Key and Z Clubs: Working Together for a Better World

Z Club members, along with moderator Sr. Josele, help with the gifts for the needy Christmas families.

The Z Club, headed by Sr. Josele, was always around when help was needed this year. Some of the many good things they did were donating money from a bake sale to the Heart Fund, sending Christmas cards to elderly people, serving at the Mothers' and Fathers' Club meetings, and helping with the Christmas families. Although they were the unsung heroes of our school, their good deeds were appreciated by all.

Z and Key Clubs have a cooperative bake sale in which they raise money for a worthy cause.

Dwenger Parents Get Involved

The parents of Dwenger students backed the school through various clubs. The Mothers' Club, which organized the Fall Bazaar and monthly bake sales, payed for the upkeep of the school chapel, while the Men's Club helped to finance our sports program. The Music Parents' Club earned money for band uniforms and new music. The Home and School Association held a back-to-school night early in the year, during which parents met and talked with teachers. Later in the year guest speakers, such as Sheriff Bud Meeks, talked at different meetings to the parents. All in all the parents really showed their enthusiasm and concern for Bishop Dwenger through different club activities.

Fr. Krason welcomes the parents to a Home and School Association meeting.

Another guest speaker at one of the meetings is Sheriff Bud Meeks.

These two dolls seem to be enjoying the Mothers' Club bazaar as much as anyone.

Parents and teachers mingle at one of the Home and School Association meetings.

These women enjoy working at the bazaar for the Mothers' club.

The officers of the Music Parents' Club are dedicated and hard working.

What could be holding Mrs. Mahr's, Mrs. Schnelker's, Mrs. Lahrman's and Mrs. Sciarini's undivided attention?

It seems that the bazaar is a big success to this lady as she gathers up some gifts.

The Home and School Association officers are capable people who enjoy their job and are good at it.

Could it be that back-to-school night is bringing back old memories to these parents?

The officers of the Men's Club take a minute to relax.

Golden Trumpet Keeps Students Informed

The Golden Trumpet kept Bishop Dwenger's students and faculty informed about scholastic happenings, Bishop Dwenger sports and various extracurricular activities throughout the year. The staff is to be commended for their hard work and patience, which resulted in an excellent newspaper.

The Golden Trumpet staff is a member of the Quill and Scroll Association. It was given a first class rating by the National Scholastic Press Association, with a mark of distinction for news content and coverage. The staff adopted new trends this year, such as a four-column page, experimental format, rectangular layout designs and a magazine-like design.

The Trumpet staff did various projects throughout the year. The staff's special project for the year was to earn money to send staff members to the Indiana University High School Journalism Institute. Their fourth quarter project was an identification quiz of Bishop Dwenger's faculty members as babies.

Aureate Preserves Dwenger Memories

Several students share the tedious job of sorting, stamping, and counting the pictures used in their section.

This picture obviously proves that at a yearbook meeting everyone is busy. There is always something that has to be done.

Mr. Arthur advises Mrs. Teusch on the finer points of "yearbooking."

Where could you find scenes of laughter, confusion, anxiety, puzzlement, sadness, and excitement all in one room? — in 102, where the yearbook staff met every Tuesday and Thursday. The members of the staff and their advisors, Mrs. Johnston and Mrs. Teusch, worked hard to produce the best yearbook ever. Also much thanks goes to Mr. James Arthur, (affectionately called "Mr Yearbook"), for all his help. Most people did not realize what had to be done just to produce one page. There were pictures to be taken, copy to be written and typed, characters to be counted, pictures to be cropped, and captions to be created. All these things were then checked over thoroughly again and again for mistakes.

The staff did not put the yearbook together just for themselves. They are YOUR memories and it's YOUR yearbook. Cherish it.

After taking careful aim, the photographer snaps another interesting picture.

Tradition . . .

Homecoming . . . What did it mean to you? Nostalgia . . . Joys . . . Pride . . . Changes . . . Traditions? Homecoming was all these things. Your outlook all depended on who you were . . . Homecoming was dedicated to the graduates. It was a step back in time and a chance to see old friends and teachers. It was a time for recollections and an opportunity to share in the community that helped to form them. For some students homecoming was just another game and dance. Many anticipated who would be in the Homecoming Court. The highlight of the evening was seeing the graduates. It was hard to believe that they had survived their high school years and were now on their own. Last, but not least, was the game. The success or failure of the game determined the mood of Homecoming Night. This year Bishop Dwenger stomped over the Snider Panthers by a score of 28 to 12. We really showed our spirit. The 1974 Homecoming was a complete success. That night will be remembered in the hearts of many for a long time to come.

We're wondering what the real reason for Terry's homecoming was . . . maybe Patty can tell us?

It sure looks like everyone here is fired up for the game. You know, they were all that happy afterwards too!

12 + 75 = inspired football player, Bob Wagner, whose cheer is, "Go, Go, Go!"

"We shoes would like to dance too, but we're not allowed. They say we'll scratch the gym floor!"

As the tensions mounts at the pep session, the players draw inspiration from the bonfire before they go on to stop Snider.

As the band provides the music, "One Tin Soldier", the pom-pom girls do their routine and light the way for the Saints' victory.

The Dwenger fans jump to their feet to cheer, as they watch the future City Champs go for another touchdown.

"An Evening With ..."

Mom stops as she thinks she hears ghosts in the house. Claire hears voices and wonders if she is dreaming.

In the shelter of the "deserted" house, Claire and Robert discuss important matters.

The cast listens attentively while the musicians are accompanying one of the actors who is singing a favorite gospel rock number.

Jesus, Ed Sandman, sings "Hosanna Heysanna" as the people of Jerusalem wave their palms in honor of the great J.C.

Who says tradition can not be broken? This year's Fall play, held on Nov. 22 and 23, did just that. Under the direction of Mr. Tierney, Dwenger students performed three mini-plays instead of one two-act play. In the past, Juniors and Seniors were the only ones able to try out for the Fall play, but this year the underclassmen could have a part in the third play. The Fall play totaled the biggest cast ever, over sixty students were involved.

The three plays were entirely unrelated. The first one was a drama entitled "Voices." Clara and Robert, a young couple, seek shelter in an abandoned cabin because of a severe snowstorm. The second play was a comedy called "Frankenstein Slept Here." When Mrs. Hoople returns to check out Castle Frankenstein, the baroness has her friends (creatures) become the household staff. Luckily, Mrs. Hoople adores "hairy" men and she falls madly in love with the werewolf. Consequently, she runs off and marries him and her visit to the castle is quite short. The final play was a musical titled "Religious Rock," which really turned out to be "something beautiful for God."

The Old and New Testaments were combined through various selections sung by the chorus. And the musicians did a great job keeping the chorus and dancers together.

Mr. Tierney's assistant, Julie Houser and all of the stage crew deserved a round of applause for helping out behind the scenes.

Igor rests his hump as Kate Frankenstein Maher debates on what to do with the creatures when Mrs. Hoople arrives.

The werewolf tries to conceal his real identity by posing as a lamp.

Kevin Ryan, his cohorts Ann Adams and Mary Lynn Levy console the audience on Joseph's death by singing, "It's All For the Best".

"That's Aunt Hanna for you, show her the hair and she don't care!" So they are off to Paris to be married.

Angie Brosmer smiles radiantly after being crowned by the Student Council president.

Despite a few distractions, Tom McGuire and Karen Palumbo still seem to be enjoying themselves.

Chris Schenkel and Mary Parks take advantage of the refreshments offered at the dance.

Angel Brown watches attentively as Jim Goheen demonstrates his extra-ordinary dancing talent.

Pandora, the group chosen to play for the dance, helps everyone get into the romantic mood.

Romantic memories prevailed once again at the annual Valentine Dance. The dance, held February 14 in the cafeteria, proved to be an enjoyable and unforgettable occasion for all who attended.

“When You’re With Me I’m Smiling” was the theme selected, and Pandora was the group which provided the music.

Highlighting the dance, was the crowning of Angie Brosmer as queen. Other members of the court included Kate Maher — Senior, Terri Houser — Junior, Diane Chandler — Sophomore and Therese Coonan — Freshman.

A Celebration

of Life

The Dwenger Machine Is Rolling . . .

On Gold and White Day we don't have to wear uniforms, but two out of three do!

Here is one of the more difficult formations the cheerleaders seem to conquer!

Mr. Johnston makes a perfect basket on the last try cheered on by the student body.

Directed by Mr. Woods, the members of the band along with the posters of the Spirit committee add the final touch to all of the rallies.

This fall Bishop Dwenger retained an old friend, The Bell, from Luers by taking City Championship.

Before the Harding game, the cheerleaders gave the players a bundle of oranges for extra energy.

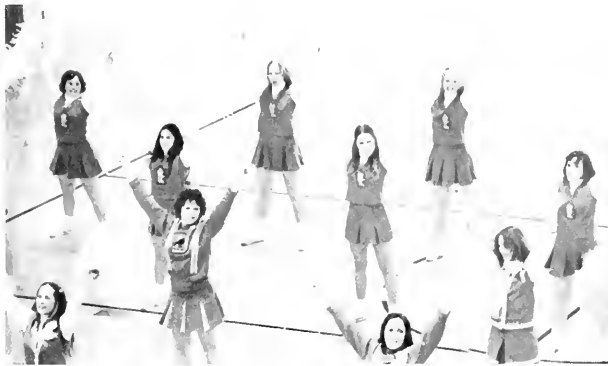

Pep sessions relieved the monotony of school. Besides giving students time to relax, they also offered a chance to express school spirit. The spirit brought out by the pep sessions was important in the backing of the school teams. Also, the sketches presented reflected the originality of the students.

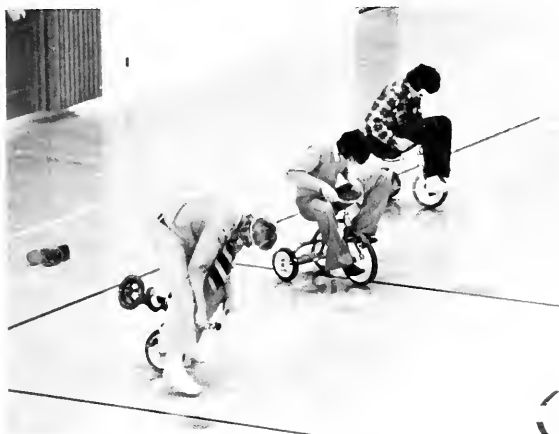

The new Dwenger look'. The model, alias Terry Partee, shows next year's fall line.

The basketball players proudly presented the cheerleaders with corsages. But it seems Coach Minch did not have enough "Pinning" exercises.

Many hours of preparation and practice go into the programs with which the pom-pom girls entertain the student body.

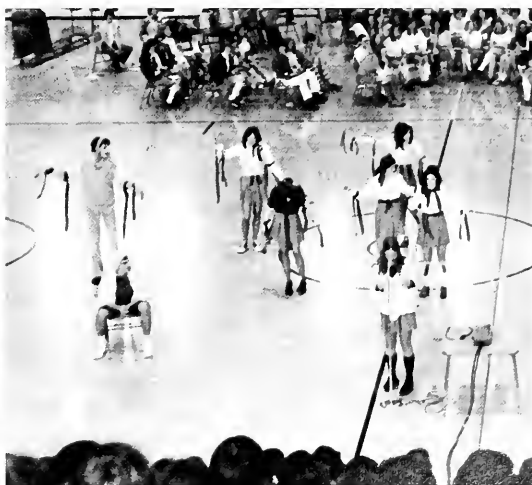

"On your mark, Get set, STOP!" The starter has tricked this year's Teetering Toddlers Mike Schlienckoff, Jeff Maxwell, Jim Carroll.

The new head of the varsity basketball team, Coach Minch acknowledges a warm welcoming.

Many enjoy the revival of the bonfire this fall. These students, like many others, just sit back to watch the festivities.

Sometimes the classes are asked to prepare skits for the pep sessions. Here is the Frosh version of "Little Red Riding Hood".

An employee of the Fort Wayne Children's Zoo shows off one of his snakes.

This poster clearly reflects the theme of the Ascension Thursday Mass.

This officer informs students about various military careers.

Mr. Crall attempts to keep order as Kelly the clown prepares his presentation.

While watching the professional dancer, Denise Bobay tries her luck at Ballet.

Mr. Scudder and Mr. Bart seem to be leaning a lot from Career Day.

Students Explore Career Opportunities

Once again Career Day was made available to students giving them an opportunity to explore deeper into the career they wish to pursue after they graduate. The Career Day program was sponsored by the Guidance Department. Speakers were brought in from all fields and they spoke on many different topics. It was so much easier for the students to understand the various careers through the talks and demonstrations given by the different speakers.

An officer from the Fort Wayne Police Department discusses being a policeman with a group of interested students.

Kelly the clown teaches the students all the tricks of his trade.

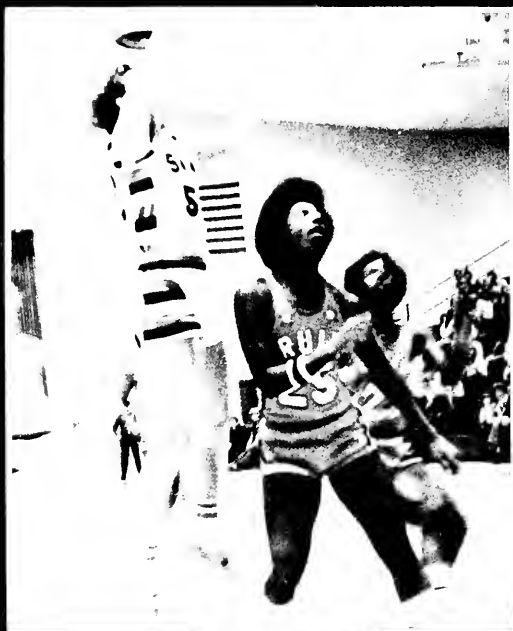

Mr. Rorick discusses with the students various pharmaceutical careers.

Many girls found this speaker's talk on professional modeling most interesting.

Dr. Murphy explains to these students what Psychology is all about.

SAC Crown

In only its third year, Dwenger's Tennis Team went undefeated on its way to the first of many city titles. The men captured the Northern Indiana Catholic High School Alliance Championship in Gary, along the way. Led by senior co-captains Tim Krabach and Lance Brauchla, they polished off eleven opponents with relative ease. Future star Eric Bagnall remained undefeated in singles. It was the teamwork, however, that led to victory. Anyone that chased little green balls around for three months truly deserved some kind of award. Congratulations men!

Tim Krabach lobs his return with a mere flick of his wrist as Brauchla marvels.

Krabach shows how "easy" it is to play tennis, exhibiting the championship form that made the team a winner.

Lance Brauchla delivers an unorthodox, but effective, serve. (Undoubtedly dazzling his opponent)

The result of a total effort — the championship finale of another great year ... BD is number one!

Dan Disser can't believe he just put the Saints ahead 27-6. Scott Lahrman and a few of South's players realize the game is all but over.

The sign says it all as the defense lowers the boom on South, "Dwenger Pride makes Saints # 1."

Coach Tone provides that extra motivation.

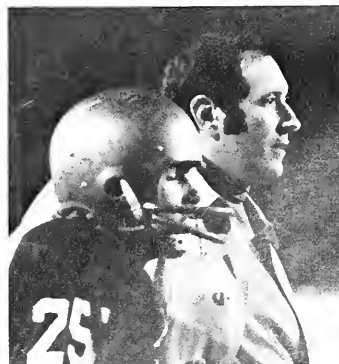

Fr. Pfister inspires his third city champs.

Dedication took BD all the way in 1974. A crunching offense and a crushing defense stole the headlines but the coaches, Frs. Pfister and Sullivan, Dr. Arata, the band, cheerleaders, fans, and managers contributed immeasurably. The seniors finished in a blaze of glory and returned the city bell to its BD home. Dwenger's most successful class boasted three championships with an overall record of 30-4. The rebirth of the Bishop's Tree inspired the team on to a well deserved city championship.

The much publicized defense allowed just 71 points while recording two shutouts. In addition, they gave up only 600 yards on the ground in ten games. Snider was held to minus yardage while South's attack was all but nullified. Defensive standout, Steve Weissert, was named to the All-State Team. All-North team member, Joe Houser, joined All-City defensive players Weissert, Plant, Hoffman, and Sommers. All-City blockers Weissert and Minnick protected All-North quarterback Dan Disser. Thanks to all the seniors — especially Doc and Grass for their service and for painting the locker room as well as the bell. No one will ever forget the Northrop game, the Greenfield rain, the caravan, or the August practices. The bell will remain at BD for years to come and our team spirit will last forever.

Bart contemplates as Denny Baker readies himself for more action.

The Cross Country Team's record in 1974 was not representative of their effort. Throughout the year, injuries kept the ranks thin. In the face of adversity the team kept on trying — those who know the meaning of pride never quit. The seniors displayed outstanding leadership. Now the future holds great promise for our young men and women (yes, women). There is no victory for those who do not believe. Our team believes!

The Wrestling Team roared down the home stretch and demolished its last six opponents including previously undefeated Northrop. Carpy pinned his man to provide the winning margin. The team's biggest win was a 55-6 stomping of Garrett; the match opened with three successive pins as fans watched the lead grow to 49-0. Meanwhile, Dan Wunderlin smashed his opponent by the score of 22-1. Steve Henderson led the way in "75" with 16 victories and 28 takedowns. Carpy set a record of nine pins while Joe Houser and Henderson went on to regionals. The Tone gang can expect to win often with the still young team.

Dwenger's daring dribblers endured another season without luck. Under rookie coach John Minch, the team laid the foundation for future success. The highpoint of the season was undoubtedly the "trouncing" of Snider. BD's first victory in several years over the Panthers came with eleven seconds to go as Byron Cade sank the last of his 21 second half points. The team deserves credit for their undying efforts.

JV & Freshmen Struggle

JV Front Row: Brian Bromberek, mgr., John Kart-holl, Terry Janeway, Shawn Gehardstein, Dan Dill-ion. Middle Row: Chris Kelly, Matt Kostoff, Skip McKenna, Jeff Maxwell. Back Row: Scott Brown, Ed Ulshaeffer, Tom Offerle.

The Frosh and JV Roundballers fought their way through a tough schedule. Sheer deter-mination led them to many victories. Coaches Herber and Scudder, respectively, taught them the fundamentals so vital to future success.

B Team 4-1

Riverbend Ravagers Take Divit in Best Year Yet

Varsity: Jim Houlihan, Scott Lahrman, Matt Lassen, Willy Carroll, Jeff Maxwell, Tom Topp. JV: Jim Till, Russ Carroll, Ken Fortress, Tim

Ream, Coach "Dandy Don" Ryan.

The final victory eluded Dwenger's golf team in 1975. Easily the best golfers around, they missed by an eyelash winning the championship they deserved. Jeff Maxwell and Jim Houlihan led the Riverbend Ravagers to a second place finish with fourteen wins on their new home course (the toughest in the city). Equally unfortunate, an easy win in the Catholic Tournament was washed out by rain. Five excellent seniors are departing but another championship awaits the remaining members in '76".

Scott anticipates his greatest feat, a ten footer on the practice green.

Topper poses after missing his ball. Scott wonders, "How does he do that"?

BD hustled its way through another track season. As expected, seniors led the way with Steve Jehl setting a school record in the long jump. Coach Herber expects great things from his underclass prospects on the basis of their good showing in "75" We say thanks for another hard fought campaign so in keeping with our great tradition.

Jim Burnham jogs around the track in the lead as Savage Bob readies to pass his last opponent.

Mike Sciarini "flops" over the high jump as the tuffies record his record height.

A BD runner floats over the low hurdles on his way to victory.

Pinstripers Swing Their Way to Title

BD's baseball burns swing into action with balance and teamwork

Our incredible baseball team concluded a surprising year by winning its last fifteen games in a row, and with them, the city championship. Team after team stood by helplessly as the fans watched in awe. The SAC leading .500 batting of John (PBR) Sommers, Jim Shovelin's numerous shutouts, and Jerry Houck's fast-finish hitting and pitching, led the team to nineteen wins overall. No one will soon forget Houck's steal of home that led to the clincher over Elmhurst. All anyone can say is, "Wow, congratulations, and thanks guys!"

1974-1975 = Determination and Success

Tony Morus, one-man spirit at BD

Seniors — the #1 Tug-a-war team R-L: Diss, Burnham, Smith, Fred, Ondecker, Tony, Carp.

Intramural contestants leap for the ball. (or is it a can of BD's official beer as Topper's shirt suggests?)

The fundamental (ever present at BD) that coaches stress until their dying day — teamwork.

Tone signals while Bart converses with the ref.

The year 1974-75 was a great one for Dwenger, and most notably, BD athletics. We captured championships in football, tennis, and baseball plus a near miss in golf. A strong finish in wrestling, added to consistency in other sports only just fell short of bringing the All-Sports Trophy home; but don't forget that yours truly and Terry Kelly finished first in the 26.5 mile Hunger Walk. In closing my "career" at Dwenger I now say that I will always remember the ferocity and sportsmanship with which BD plays.

Thank you and good luck to all, especially Tuffy, Fr. Pfister, and my class of 1975!

G.A.A. Great, Active Athletes

After a hard week, Nancy Strack gets some help putting on her bowling shoes from Michelle Poinette.

Margo Krach gladly poses for this picture as she diligently tries to keep the bowling scores for her team.

First Row: Amy Hamilton, Cheryl Ertelt, and Liz Nowlan, Second Row: Julie Bergoff, Vicki Choka, Michelle Poinette and Coach Myers.

The G.A.A. officers did a fine job this year. Donna Cochran, President; Laurie Usina, Vice-President; Diana Sunderland, secretary; and Maria Reitzug, treasurer; were able to organize many activities. Bowling was, as always, a lot of fun! Almost 90 girls bowled on Friday afternoon after school. The six girls with the highest averages competed as a team in the State Finals.

Cheryl Ertelt stumps the photographer as she uses a lightning quick approach to the alley.

Officers: Donna Cochran, president; Laurie Usina; vice-president; Diana Sunderland, secretary; and Maria Reitzug, treasurer.

Volleyball team: 1st Row: Julie Rosswurm, Rita Sunderland, Minn Rosswurm, Evelyn Rorick, Julie Berghoff, and camera-shy Laura Roy. 2nd Row: Lisa Berghoff, Barb Walker, Joan Geary, Kathy DeGrasse, Diana Sunderland, Anne Phillips, Sue Grasshoff. 3rd Row: Coach Myers, Michelle Poinsette, Vicki Choka, Ellen Steger, Nancy Strack, Penny Kumfer, Theresa Ehrman, and Paula Offerle.

Along with the team Rita Sunderland is up for this game.

With positions like this, the team is ready for everything.

"The Minn" is in action in this game as she is in every game.

Ellen Steger shows her enthusiasm. She really digs volleyball.

Last year volleyball squad had five seniors, two juniors, four sophomores and nine freshmen. After experiencing a 7 win, 3 loss season and with the thought of losing only five seniors, the prospects for next year's season seem very good.

One of the season highlights was defeating Wayne, who went on to State Finals.

Two awards given at the fall banquet were for best spiker to Laura Roy and best setter to Minn Rosswurm.

The Ups and Downs of G.A.A.

Basketball team: 1st Row: Lisa Berghoff, Cheryl Ertelt, Barb Hickey, Kathy DeGrasse, Sharon McBride, Clare Davich, 2nd Row: Michelle Poinsatte, MaryAnn Conrad, Maria Reitzug, Min Rosswurm, Teresa Clemmer, Vicki Choka, Diana Sunderland, Ann Phillips, and coach McCartney, 3rd Row: Laura Gedom, Julie Rosswurm, Barb Walker, Teresa Coonan, Nancy Strack, Rita Sunderland, Cathy Richardson, and Ellen Steger.

The Bishop Dwenger girl's basketball team had a tough season and managed to capture the city championship. Although they only had a third of the city title they ended their season with 10 wins — 3 losses. Nancy Strack as captain of the squad scored 104 points and made a 100 rebounds as she ended her career as a senior.

Lisa Berghoff and the Saints team jump past Southside 38-35.

The handoff between two members of the 440-yard relay team.

This year the track team had quite a few new members. All their long hours of practice paid off as many new records were set. Maria Reitzug won the 220-yard dash for the second year in a row at Sectionals and the 440-yard relay team won. Then at Regionals the 880-yard relay team advanced to State. The 880 team is Michelle Barr, Rita Sunderland, Linda Grote, and Maria Reitzug. Congratulations to all the team members.

The making of this yearbook has not been an easy task. However, when you are assisted by people who are willing to help, the job becomes a lot easier. Besides thanking the staff itself, I would like to express my gratitude to a number of others who have so generously assisted.

First of all to our yearbook representative, Mr. James Arthur, who was always eager to help, especially when deadlines were approaching. To Mr. Watters, who provided us all year with fine photography. To Sister Josele for all her little favors, and for lending us her typewriters. To Jean Anderson and Michael Harber, who helped by writing last minute copy. To Matt Minick, who donated his time by acting as the yearbook "mailman." To Steve Palumbo, who helped with the Boys' Sports Section. To Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, whose names were overlooked on the Patrons' page. And to anyone else who was overlooked.

Last of all, I would like to express a special thanks to Mrs. Teusch, who spent so many long hours after school working out problems, arranging pictures, correcting errors, and worrying, especially when deadlines were upon us. Only she and I know exactly how much work has been put into the production of this book.

We sincerely hope that our work will help everyone to remember and cherish all the memories of this past year.
